OF THE

COUNCIL

THE ART-UNION OF LONDON,

FOR THE YEAR 1849,

WITH A LIST OF SUBSCRIBERS.

No. 444, WEST STRAND, LONDON;

THE LIBRARY
OF THE
UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

ART-UNION OF LONDON.

THIS SOCIETY has for its object to promote the knowledge and love of the Fine Arts, and their general advancement in the British Empire, by a wide diffusion of the works of native Artists, and to elevate Art and its Professors, by creating an increased demand for their works, and an improved taste on the part of the Public.

Subscribers of one guinea, or upwards, are members of the Society for the year for which the subscription is paid. Subscriptions may be paid in advance; and each Member who subscribes for ten or more years, in one payment, may receive at the time one of the medals in silver executed for the Society, in addition to the annual advantages attached to the subscription.

The subscriptions are devoted to the purchase of Pictures, Drawings, Enamels, Sculpture, Medals, Engravings, and other works of art, after reserving two and a half per cent. to form a fund, for the purpose of procuring a Gallery, and otherwise advancing the objects of the Association.

Every Member, for each guinea subscribed, is entitled to—

I. An impression of one or more Plates engraved expressly for the Society, and printed for the Members only.

II. One share in the distribution of Prizes at the Annual General Meeting.

The number and respective value of the prizes are arranged by the Council according to the amount of subscription for the year. The holder of a prize is entitled to select FOR HIMSELF, subject to the regulations given below, a work of art from one of the public Exhibitions in London, of the current year. All payments from the funds of the Society are made to the Artist direct, the latter giving a receipt of approved form. The Council will select works of art for such prizeholders as may desire it.

Members who subscribe more than one guinea may have, for each additional guinea, instead of the Engravings given for the year, one copy of either of the Engravings, "A River Scene," "Una," "Raffaelle and the Fornarina," "The Castle of Ischia," "The Convalescent from Waterloo," "Jephtha's Daughter," "The Last Embrace," and "The Neapolitan Wedding," "The Prisoner of Gisors," "Illustrations of Milton," or "Sabrina," together with a set of Designs in Outline. A subscriber of five guineas may receive an India proof of the Engraving, if preferred to five ordinary copies.

REGULATIONS AS TO SELECTION.

1. The amount of a Prize shall be in no case applicable to the purchase of more than one work of Art, and shall not be allowed to include any payment to the artist for more highly finishing, or perfecting, such work; or, in fact, any thing more than the stated price of such work of art as actually exhibited. In reference to Sculpture, however, Prizeholders shall be at liberty to commission the execution in marble of any model exhibited in either of the Exhibitions referred to, the price whereof, if so executed, shall be left at the first opening of such Exhibition with the person appointed to communicate the same to public inquirers. The sculpture, when completed, shall be submitted to the Council, and exhibited to the Subscribers with other Prizes.

2. Should a work of greater value than the amount of the Prize be selected, then such amount shall be applied in part payment thereof, the balance being added by the Prizeholder. If, on the other hand, the full amount of the Prize be not expended, the sum so unexpended shall be carried to the reserved fund of the Society.

3. No picture, or other work of art, the price of which shall not have been left or recorded at the first opening of the several Exhibitions as aforesaid, shall be selected by any Prizeholder; but an Artist shall be at liberty to reduce the original price at any time before selection by a Prizeholder.

4. The works so selected shall be delivered to the Council, so that they may be exhibited to the Subscribers under such regulations as they may deem fit; and after such Exhibition shall become the property of the several Prizeholders.

5. No arrangement whatever shall be made, or be attempted to be made, between a Prizeholder and an Artist, or any parties on their behalf, in the selection of a work of art, by which a Prizeholder may obtain, or attempt to obtain, the return of a portion of the amount of the Prize, or other valuable consideration.

6. No Prizeholder shall sell, or attempt to sell, the right of selection.

7. Unless the selection be made by the Prizeholder within the time to be limited by the Council, the Prize shall be forfeited, and the amount shall merge into the reserved fund of the Society.

8. Should it be discovered that any attempt has been made, or any collusion has taken place, for the purpose of evading the foregoing laws, or any part of them, the amount of the Prize shall be forfeited, and merge into the reserved fund of the Society, and the Prizeholder shall have his subscription returned to him, shall cease to be a Member, and shall be ineligible to rejoin the Society.

9. The determination of the Council, in all cases arising out of the foregoing Regulations, shall be binding and conclusive upon the Prizeholder.

REPORT.

According to annual custom, the Council of the Art-Union of London proceed to lay before the subscribers an account of their operations during the past year, the present position of the Society, and their views and anticipations for the future. In commencing this Report, the thirteenth which the Council have had the pleasure to make, they consider it their duty to state the substance and issue of the renewed correspondence with the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade since the date of the last Report. It will be remembered that at the general meeting in 1848, the question between the Board of Trade and the Council was—whether the Council should select the prizes for the prizeholders, or the prizeholders select them for themselves, in accordance with the characteristic and foundation law of the Association, recognized by Act of Parliament and confirmed by the Royal Charter, and that the Council, strengthened by the unanimous opinion of the meeting, had determined to omit no effort to maintain for the prizeholders this right of choice. In the month of May following, a meeting was called by the Institute of Fine Arts, and a memorial to the Board of Trade was unanimously agreed to, setting forth their opinion that "if the prizes were to be chosen by a committee instead of each prize-holder being at liberty to select for himself, the Society would be virtually destroyed," and praying that "the Art-Union of London might be permitted to pursue untrammelled that course which has hitherto been so conducive to the interests of art and artists." This was afterwards signed by more than three hundred artists, including twenty-four royal academicians, and was taken up by a deputation representing the Royal Academy, the Institute of the Fine Arts, the old and new Water Colour Societies, and the Association for Promoting the Free Exhibition of Modern Art.

The Incorporated Society of British Artists had previously, by a separate memorial and deputation, addressed the Board to the same effect.

In July the Council were informed, by a communication from Sir Denis Le Marchant, that their Lordships proposed to withdraw for the present their requisition that the prizes should be selected by a committee, "and to postpone the question to another year;" but that they should require, that so long as the right of selection remained absolutely with the prizeholders, they should be allowed to exercise it freely, by such an alteration in the laws as would enable them to give commissions to artists, or to purchase any works excepting portraits, being the productions of a living artist and in his possession at the time the selection was made,—instead of being confined, as now, to the public exhibitions of the year; and that the Board could only consent to withdraw the regulations previously forwarded, on the understanding that such freedom would be secured.

Outlines of proposed new regulations to effect this were forwarded, to enable the Council to judge of them more easily.

The Council required little consideration to arrive at a conviction of the inexpediency and destructive tendency of the proposed alterations; and a letter was accordingly addressed to the Board of Trade, setting forth their objections, and containing the following passages:—

"The Council of the Art-Union of London are anxious, with their Lordships, to give to the prizeholder the most perfect freedom of choice, with such limitations only as may be necessary to guard against fraudulent transactions.

"The regulations of the Society, the result of twelve years' experience and constant attention to the subject on the part of the Council, have been made with reference to the prevention of the perversion of the funds to individual advantage, without interference with the freedom of choice desired for the prizeholders.

"The regulation binding the prizeholders to select from specified public exhibitions works of which the prices have been recorded, has this end especially in view, and appears to the Council to meet the case. The field of selection thus given is large; it has been increased as opportunities occurred (as by the addition of the 'Exhibition of the Royal Commissioners of Fine Arts,' and of the 'Free Exhibition'), while, by the previous record of the price, and the publicity which attends the transaction, the possibility of fraudulent proceedings is rendered very small, if not altogether prevented.

"Should the regulation proposed by their Lordships be brought into operation, this check would no longer exist, and the opportunities for collusion and improper arrangement would be so greatly increased as to lead to these irregularities, and ultimately to destroy the Society.

"Under the present arrangement, the knowledge that a certain number of pictures must be purchased from the current exhibitions serves as a stimulus to artists, which, of course, would no longer exist. The prizes awarded each year are, in fact, so many premiums for competition open to all artists.

"Under the arrangement proposed, private friendship, in the absence even of improper motives, would often lead to the perversion of the funds.

"The Council are quite unable to reconcile the regulation now suggested by the Board of Trade with the desire expressed by their Lordships, in proposing the regulations since withdrawn, to narrow the field of selection so that the choice of the prizeholder should be confined to works of real merit.

"The authorities of the various bodies of artists exercising a discretion in the admission of pictures, each exhibition has, to a certain extent, the character of a selection of works of merit; but if the prizeholder is to be permitted to select any work of art anywhere, provided it is 'the production of a living artist and in his possession at the time,' and, further, to give commissions to last a twelvemonth, if not more, the field of selection will be so widely extended that it would be impossible to embrace it by any sufficient regulations."

Soon afterwards a deputation of the Council had an interview with Lord Granville, at the Privy Council office, further to explain the grounds of objection; and the result was, in January last, a letter from Sir Denis Le Marchant, which, after reiterating the opinion of the Board, that either of the courses which they had suggested (opposite enough, it must be confessed), would be preferable to the present system, concluded thus:—

"Their Lordships, however, are reluctant, at least at present, to urge their views against the strongly expressed and deliberate sentiments of the council of the London Art-Union, with whom they have been all along most anxious to co-operate. They have, therefore, directed me to inform you that they shall not now insist upon their proposal; but it must be distinctly understood that they do not relinquish the right of subsequently requiring these, or any other amendments, in the existing system, as circumstances may appear to them to render expedient."

This, then, is the position of the matter at present; and here, it is to be hoped, it will be allowed to rest. As the Council have already said to the Board of Trade,—"Regarding the successful progress of the Art-Union of London as of great national importance, they would view with fear the possibility of a renewal of a discussion which tends to unsettle the public mind in respect of the Association, and is greatly opposed to its success; and they feel it to be their duty, therefore, in consequence of the wording of the communication, respectfully but most earnestly to express a hope that their Lordships will not again raise a question on which the well-wishers of the Society and the great body of English artists and art-lovers have so unanimously and unmistakeably expressed themselves."

An examination of the published reports for several years past will convey to the subscribers some idea of the extent to which the time and attention of the Council have been occupied by legal objections and fruitless interference. When Acts of Parliament had removed all doubts as to the legality of the system adopted by the Art-Union of London, and the association had been incorporated by charter, the Council anticipated that they would be enabled to apply themselves wholly to the furtherance of its great objects.

They still look forward to this, and deprecate earnestly any renewal of the unnecessary obstructions which have been thrown in the way of their progress.

Before concluding this part of the subject the Council would remark that, harassing and injurious as the proceedings in question have been, they were not wholly without advantage, since they served to elicit from various quarters expressions of good will and consideration very gratifying to those who have the welfare of the association much at heart.

Foremost amongst these expressions they place the communication, that at the meeting of artists at the Institute of Fine Arts in May last, already referred to, it was unanimously resolved,—"That this meeting takes this opportunity of expressing the warmest thanks of the body of artists to the Council of the Art-Union of London, convinced that the Council have manifested at all times an anxious desire, in the face of many difficulties, to promote the diffusion of a love of art among the people, and the elevation of the position of the artist, and more especially for their disinterested and determined resistance to the measures proposed by the Board of Trade, which would inevitably place in the hands of the Council a vast amount of patronage."

Turning now to the financial position of the Society,—the Council have to report that the total amount subscribed for the current year is 10,391*l.* 17*s.*

The commercial depression which has universally prevailed, political excitement, and the distrust which was for a time produced, have affected seriously all the institutions throughout the country which depend on the co-operation of the public, but have no absolute claim on it. When the Council say that the revenue of the Art-Union of London has suffered, it is simply stating, therefore, that this Society is not an exception amongst its contemporaries.

Other causes have probably aided in producing the diminution, —the check which was given last year, and the lessening of zeal on the part of some few of the numerous voluntary and unpaid co-adjutors, to whose continued exertions for several years the Society owes so much. It is satisfactory to the Council to know that no share in the diminution of subscribers can be attributed either to the character of the engraving and illustrated work obtained by each subscriber of the past year, or to delay in issuing them. The "Prisoner of Gisors," and the "Allegro and Penseroso" of Milton, which have been distributed, have elicited none but gratifying expressions.

It may be mentioned as a striking illustration of the result of association, that 6*s.* 5*d.* of each subscriber's guinea sufficed to produce these works,—works which, if published in the ordinary way, could not have been purchased for the whole amount of the subscription; and that, after paying for illustrating and printing the report, printing almanacs and prospectuses, the cost of the general meeting, and the exhibition of prizes, a proportion of the cost of the charter, the reserve of 2½ per cent. to provide a gallery hereafter, and the expenses of carrying on the large operations of the Society,—half the total amount subscribed was distributed in the shape of prizes at the annual meeting, in which distribution every member had, of course, one or more chances.

With the funds then allotted 137 works of art were purchased from the various public collections, and were exhibited in the Suffolk-street Gallery, by the kind permission of the Society of British Artists. The exhibition was open for four weeks, and was visited, as heretofore, by an immense number of persons, without any accident or injury.

The engraving for the current year, "Sabrina," by Mr. Lightfoot, from the painting by Mr. Frost, A.R.A., is ready for electrotyping.

In addition to an impression of this, each subscriber will receive an engraving after a design in basso relievo, by Mr. John Hancock, "Christ entering Jerusalem," submitted in competition for a premium of 100*l.*, offered by the Council for the best design in basso relievo, for this purpose.

In reply to the advertisement of this premium, twenty-five designs were sent in, several of them having great merit. To one of these, "The Death of Boadicea," by Mr. Armstead, the Council awarded an honorary premium, and have arranged to produce a certain number of copies of it in bronze, by the electrotype process, to be distributed hereafter as prizes.

Copies in bronze of the prize design will also be made.

The Council take this opportunity to thank the various artists who responded to their invitation.

The satisfaction with which the illustrations of Milton have been received, has led the Council to determine on producing a similar volume for the subscribers of an ensuing year. The poem selected is Goldsmith's "Traveller," which will be illustrated by thirty engravings on wood. Messrs. Richard Ansdell, John Absolon, Edward Corbould, Frederick Taylor, W. E. Frost, A.R.A., John Gilbert, F. Goodall, John Martin, R. Huskisson, W. L. Leitch, Clarkson Stanfield, R.A., E. H. Wehnert, E. M. Ward, A.R.A., J. D. Harding, G. Dodgson, F. W. Topham, E. Duncan, E. Armitage, and Thomas Webster, R.A., have already accepted commissions for the drawings.

The engraving of "The Crucifixion," by Mr. W. Finden, after Hilton, is advancing towards completion.

Messrs. Bacon, Edward Goodall, and Shenton, are making progress respectively with "The Burial of Harold" (after Mr. F. R. Pickersgill, A.R.A.); "The Piper" (after Mr. F. Goodall); and "Richard Cœur de Lion forgiving Bertrand de Gourdon" (after Mr. John Cross).

In addition to these, which, as mentioned in the last report, are being engraved on steel, as an experiment on the practicability of ceasing to electrotype the same plate for all the subscribers, the Council have placed "The Villa of Lucullus," by Mr. Leitch, in the hands of Mr. Willmore, to be engraved for the Society. Each subscriber of an ensuing year* will be entitled to obtain an impression of one of these engravings,—the particular print which each will receive being decided by lot.

The following is a statement of the engraving account still open:—

* The Council finding that it will be late in the year befor the subjects named in the text can be completed, and having been fortunate in obtaining a pair of finished plates, "The Smile" and "The Frown," after T. Webster, R.A., the impressions from which are now being rapidly printed for the Subscribers, and a series of very fine designs by D. Maclise, R.A., illustrating Shakspeare's "Seven Ages," have determined to appropriate the above works to the subscription of the year ending March 31, 1850, and to postpone the issue of the others.

The Statuettes in porcelain of "The Dancing Girl reposing," allotted last year, are in the course of completion, and will shortly be distributed to the prizeholders entitled to them.

The engraving of "Queen Philippa interceding for the Lives of the Burgesses of Calais," by Mr. H. Robinson, after Mr. Selous, is in progress. It is proposed to allot to-day the right to 282 proof impressions of this work.

The bust of Her Majesty the Queen, in bronze, after Chantrey, being coveted by many of the subscribers, it is proposed that twenty additional copies of it shall be distributed to-day as prizes. The greater number of those allotted last year are in the hands of their respective owners.

The figure of "Thalia," in cast-iron, already mentioned on several occasions, is now so near completion that the members to whom it was allotted may expect to obtain it forthwith. The Council, although in nowise accountable for the delay which has attended the publication of this figure, feel indebted to the prizeholders for the patience with which they have waited for it. The Council mention as a subject of gratification that they received intimation, some time since, on the part of the Prince Albert, that his Royal Highness would be glad to have a copy of each of the bronzes issued by the Art-Union, and wished that they might be prepared at his expense. Copies of the majority of them were accordingly obtained and forwarded, and the remainder are in course of execution. The Council, who view with deep interest every event affecting the progress of the fine arts in the United Kingdom, congratulate the country on the enlightened desire uniformly displayed by his Royal Highness to assist in this important object.

The impulse that has been given to the production of bronzes in this country, by the efforts of the Art-Union of London, and which has since extended to the manufacture of statuettes in other materials, is so obvious and so fully recognised as not to require assertion. To lead the arts to the aid of our manufactures, has been one of the objects kept steadily in view by the Council of the Art-Union of London from the date of its establishment. Apart from the increased commercial value thereby given, it is much to be desired in an educational point of view, that all articles of furniture and in daily use should have the forms of beauty which art can give. As these become familiar to the eyes of all, that which is inelegant and unsymmetrical becomes unpleasing, and the general standard of taste is necessarily raised. Art can give value to the meanest material, and make a lump of clay a "joy for ever."

The things which are around us mould and influence the mind more powerfully than some suppose. Homes are the manufactories of men, so to speak: the well-ordering of them is surely a matter of no trifling moment.

The die for the reverse of the "Wren" medal has been completed by Mr. Benjamin Wyon, and is now being hardened to supply the necessary number of impressions.*

The medals commemorative of Hogarth allotted at the last meeting have been delivered to those entitled to receive them.

The "Flaxman" medal, allotted some time since, and delayed by circumstances which the Council were unable to control, has been undertaken by Mr. W. Wyon, R.A. It has been already stated that prizeholders entitled to this medal, who may prefer to obtain at once in lieu of it either of the medals already published by the Society are at liberty to do so.

Dies for a medal in honour of Inigo Jones are in course of execution, by Mr. C. F. Carter: thirty impressions of this in silver will be allotted to-day.

The Council mention with regret, that within the last few days they have been deprived, by death, of the services of Mr. Collard, who, for several years, had given his continuous attention, as a member of the Council, to the financial affairs of the Society. James Stewart, Esq. assistant secretary of the Bank of England, has been elected to supply the vacancy thus caused. Further, to complete the number of the Council limited by the charter, and comply with the regulation which requires that four new members shall be appointed annually, Dominic Colnaghi, Esq., John Martin, Esq., M.P., and C. R. Beauclerk, Esq., have been elected.

The reserved fund now amounts to the sum of 3,409*l.* 1*s.* 5*d.*†

The following is a statement of the receipts and expenditure:—

* The hardening of the dies was successfully performed and a small number of the medals had been struck when a flaw appeared in each die, against which there seems to be no means of providing, and which rendered them unfit for further use. New dies must, therefore, be made. This will give an idea of the difficulties which the Council have constantly to meet in this as in other branches of art.

CHARLES J. DIMOND,

The accounts have been audited by three members of the Finance Committee and two gentlemen from the body of the subscribers, viz. Mr. J. H. Mann and Mr. G. Gillott, to whom thanks are due.

The sum set apart for the purchase of works of art by the prizeholders themselves (3,205*l.*) will be thus allotted:—

16 works, of		£10	5 works of		£60
15	„	15	4	„	70
12	„	20	4	„	80
12	„	25	2	„	100
12	„	40	1	„	150
7	„	50	1	„	200

To these are to be added—

20 Bronzes of "The Queen;"
50 Statuettes of "Narcissus," after Gibson;
282 Proof Impressions of "Queen Philippa interceding for the Lives of the Burgesses of Calais;"
282 Lithographs of "St. Cecilia," by Mr. Maguire, after Mr. Tenniel;—and 30 Medals, commemorative of "Inigo Jones:"—making in the whole Seven Hundred and Fifty-five Prizes.

The total sum appropriated to the purchase and production of works of art, including the estimated cost of the engravings, is 7530*l.* 9*s.* 2*d.*

The bronzes will be allotted to the first twenty names drawn consecutively at the close of the general distribution: the statuettes to the next fifty similarly drawn; and the medals to the following thirty. The proof engraving of Queen Philippa will be appropriated to the names standing fiftieth in the list preceding and succeeding that of each prizeholder in the general distribution, and of each of those entitled to a porcelain statuette. The lithographs will be appropriated to the names standing in a similar manner one-hundredth preceding and succeeding those above mentioned. Notice will be sent to the subscribers entitled to the statuettes and proofs in the course of two days; the other prizeholders will receive intimation of the result by to-night's post.

Passing from the present to the future—the year which is to come—the Council are most anxious to retain the zealous services of the numerous friends scattered over the kingdom and its colonies, to whose cordial co-operation and gratuitous exertions in the cause of art and artists the great extension of the Society is mainly owing. Simply as an evidence of appreciation, the Council have recently determined on presenting to each local honorary secretary who forwards the names of forty or more subscribers one of the porcelain statuettes produced by the Society. They would not have it supposed that they appreciate less the exertions of those coadjutors who, with equal good will and energy in the cause, are unable to obtain this number of subscribers, but some limit seemed necessary. The Council earnestly invite the renewed co-operation of all former friends and the assistance of new, and feel assured that the subscribers at large will agree with any step which may hereafter be taken to acknowledge, in some fitting manner, these services, without reference to their results.

Desiring to avoid the appearance of invidiousness, the Council do not propose to particularize the efforts of local secretaries, but they cannot avoid stating that from Boston, in the United States, through the exertions of Mr. Dennet, more than 200 subscribers have been obtained. The Council have before this expressed their sense of the importance of thus connecting our trans-atlantic brethren with us in furtherence of the arts of peace and refinement.

It may be mentioned that there are now three Art-Unions in the United States, namely, those of New York, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati. The effect of their operations is thus stated in one of their leading literary journals:—

"It is hardly necessary," says the writer, "to speak of the great good the Art-Union has accomplished; it is too evident to need to be insisted on; its effects are so palpable that he who runs may read. It has raised art from the lowest depths of degradation; it has taught the people, by making them familiar with it, to reverence and appreciate it. Ten years ago, what was art among us? It is true that really fine pictures found among the few of wealth and taste an occasional purchaser, but the young artist who felt that he must creep before he could walk, had no encouragement to begin. He must smother his aspirations or starve. All this it has remedied. Then our men of wealth filled their walls with counterfeit originals, and bad copies, the refuse of European markets.

"Amongst the mass art was not understood at all. Pictures were merely things in frames pleasant enough to look at once. The prettiest were always the best; they never studied them; they never saw any relative merit in them, least of all did they desire to spend money for them. There was no taste among them; but the Art-Union has created one, and now almost every man we meet can say something about pictures, and likes to talk about them, and see them. In the increased attention to the subject of painting; in the improved taste and discrimination in judging of the merits of pictures, and in the numerous and beautiful works of art that now adorn the houses of many of our citizens, we see ample proofs of the good the institution has already done, and strong indications of the further benefit it is destined, under proper management, to confer on our country."

The Council have so often dwelt on the objects and plan of the Art-Union of London, that it would seem unnecessary again to refer to them, nor can they say more than has been said in former reports, to impress upon those who may gain to-day the right of purchasing works of art, the importance of using the greatest care and judgment in the selection.

The Art-Union of London has not worked in vain: a love and knowledge of art are speading, the real purpose and value of art are beginning to be understood, and the artist is more properly appreciated. Much, however, is yet needed to be done to place the arts in their position amongst us, and the Council feel that they cannot dwell too often or too forcibly on their importance.

Is there one of us who has not had his views cleared, his thoughts elevated, his heart lightened by the presentments of genius—by genius whose power it is to discover everlasting beauty beneath deepest disguises, and make it clear to the minds of commoner men? Great are the victories of the true artist—greater and more enduring than those of the warrior, and equally worthy of reward.

Art teaches us to see nature, and opens fresh views to the mind, providing and high inducements for exertion. But for art, the most perfect form of man, and some of his highest powers would be unknown, for art from specialities and incompleteness, has produced the general and the perfect. This is the true province of art, to set forth thought. "Always and universally," says Schlegel, "it is thought, the idea of some subject or form as the inner sense or significance thereof, that constitutes the essence of a work of art, and with which art in general is concerned."

We would urge this as well as on our younger and rising artists as on those who are to judge and aid their efforts, and suggesting to them that little minds cannot produce great things, nor vulgar minds pure things, would bid them pursue their art not as a plaything or a trade, but thoughtfully, earnestly, and with high motive, for the enjoyment, instruction, and elevation of mankind.

Let it be the province of the Art-Union of London to provide a public capable of appreciating such efforts, and willing fittingly to reward them.

LEWIS POCOCK, } Secretaries.
